

tions, which then results in real-world end collections:

<sup>2</sup>Educologists, not given to worry too much about notations not making too much sense, will of course wonder why not just use the good old equal sign.